Who are BHSEA

- What do we do?
- What are our aims and objectives?
- How do we help our members?
- What is our future?

Our Aims and Objectives

- BHSEA is managed by a group of voluntary safety practitioners.
- Our aim is to help improve standards of Health and Safety at Work, which we have done successfully since our foundation in 1930.

Achieving our aims

- Providing and maintaining a manned Safety Advice Centre open to members and others.
- Keeping up to date with developments in health and safety legislation and working practices.
- Providing opportunities for discussions with the Health and Safety Executive and other Enforcement Agencies.

Achieving our aims

- Enabling members to make a network of personal contacts.
- Encouraging the exchange of ideas on health and safety issues between large and small organisations.
- Providing materials and support for Health and Safety training activities and local education.

How will BHSEA help you?

- Monthly meetings on current issues and training events, attracting CPD points.
- Monthly BHSEA Newsletter.
- Informal contact with HSE Inspectors at monthly meetings and other events.

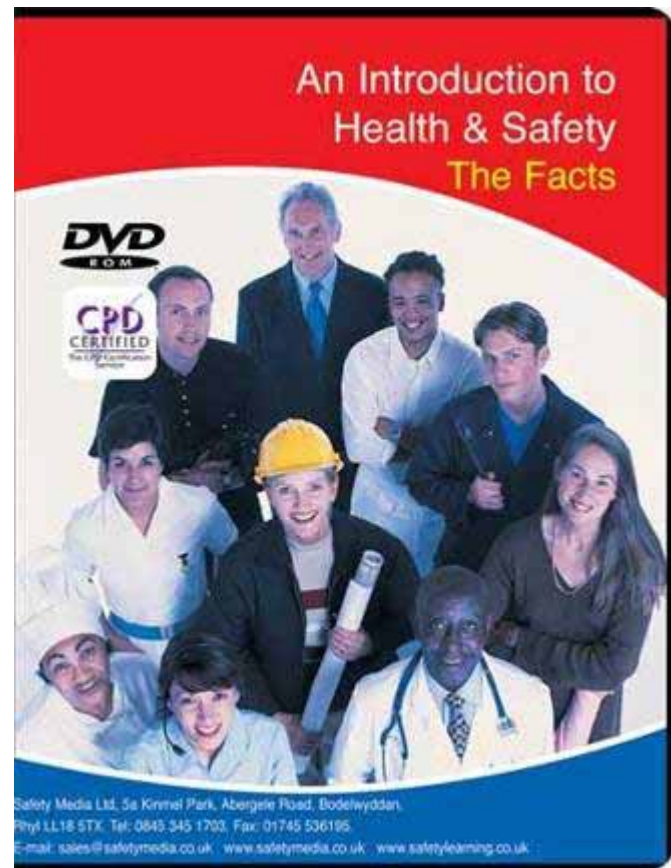

How will BHSEA help you?

- Networking with your fellow members.
- Answers to your questions on Health and Safety policies, Risk assessments, and Method Statements.

How will BHSEA help you?

- Use of manned Safety Advice Centre with Internet access.
- Loan of films and DVD's from our Media Library.

The Future

- More involvement with manufacturing.
- Strong construction sector.
- More involvement with schools.
- Developing better ties with UK trading partners.
